

This is my story photo. In this picture you can see a nice lush feild of a school, but it was not always like that. In the past up until the early 80's this field was brown and run down covered in maure as it was a farmers field far, far away from the city center. But has now migrated to be inner city there has ben thousands of horses (and kids) that roam this feild.